

The support radio stations such as KLove offers to local community is something we can not live without. It brings encouraging, family based messages to my community. Having been born and raised in SA (39 years), I can confidently say we have never had the benefit of a station of this nature. KLove offers local christian organizations a free avenue to advertise events and services available to me and my family. America needs to get back to the basics of family and faith. KLove is doing just that.
